Danger Looms
If We Withdraw
Pacific Fleet

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

JAPAN has its spells of being quite conciliatory in its diplomatic conversations with the United States. Thus far these intervals have coincided with periods of comparative quiescence between the European belligerents. But every time there's been a European crisis the islanders have shown a disposition to take advantage of it by moves strongly indicative of an underlying policy to grab everything available in the Far East while the Occident's too busy elsewhere to make its objections to such a program effective. The mikado is well aware that this sort of a Jap grabfest, because State Secretary Hull has told him so plainly. He's warned Tokio that we Americans would regard any Jap gobblings of the western powers' Oriental possessions as calculated to demoralize all peaceful international relationships in the Pacific area.

Action, Not Words
The mikado, on his part, has made no unambiguous answer to these representations. His actions are interpreted as speaking louder than words, however.

He began by announcing, while the Germans were busy conquering Holland, that the Japanese couldn't acquiesce in any transfer of the ownership of the Dutch East Indies. That was all right with Uncle Sam. So far as he was concerned, he didn't intend to seize the archipelago. He simply wanted to feel sure that some other country didn't seize it, maybe cutting off America's greatly needed supplies of tin and rubber, for which we're very dependent upon these particular islands' mines and forests.

Afterward, it's taken for granted that he has an eye on Singapore, the Dutch East Indies, perhaps the Philippines, even Australia, New Zealand and India. Jap militarists have talked about it for a generation or two.

Our Own Hemisphere
With all this going on, the other day Japan's ambassador to Brazil, its ministers to Mexico, Panama, Cuba, Venezuela and Canada met with Jap Ambassador Horinouchi, in Washington, to plan a Jap monopoly of trade with the Canadians and all the Latin Americas. It's very suggestive of an answer to Uncle Sam's proposed Pan-American trade "cartel" now a-hatching under our own Yankee auspices.

Does the whole thing promise very well for an early withdrawal of our Pacific war fleet to the Atlantic, to attend to the European totalitarianians?

Oh, yes. When we get our prospective new $4,000,000,000 worth of fighting craft aloft, we'll be fixed to deal with the situation. But gosh! In the meantime? What your Uncle Samuel feared was that Herr Hitler, having vanquished The Netherlands, might claim them. He feared still more that the Japs, forestalling the Nazis, would do the claiming. So the Japs' declaration that they desired only to have all outsiders keep hands off the Dutch colonies was entirely satisfactory to Washington.

Japanese Good Faith
I don't say that the mikado's good faith wasn't somewhat doubted by the state department. Nevertheless, what he actually said sounded o. k.

LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP GAME TO BE PLAYED ON SUNDAY

The championship baseball game between the Auburn Cubs and the Roseville Wolf & Royer teams in the Placer-Nevada league will be played Sunday.

The Roseville team, first half victors, took the opening playoff contest last Sunday but Auburn, second half champion, evened the count this week in a night game played in Roseville.

The score of the second contest was 16 to 4. Dave Roderick, Roseville's best pitcher, failed to finish the second inning as the Cubs scored eleven runs. Hurley pitched for Auburn.

Myron Immer and family were here from Truckee during the weekend, visiting relatives and other friends.

JAPAN SEEKS "NEW ORDER IN WORLD"

Nation Must Abandon Economic Dependence On Foreigners, Said

TOKYO, (UP)—Japan must abandon its economic dependence on foreign countries, Prince Fumimaro Konoye said today in his first radio speech since he became premier.

Earlier Konoye had said in an interview that his government would seek to destroy the Chinese government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and would cooperate fully with the Japanese-sponsored Wang Ching-wei regime at Nanking.

In his radio speech Konoye said that there must be closer collaboration among Japan, China and Manchukuo as well as economic expansion into the South Seas area of the Pacific.

His government's foreign policy would aim toward "the establishment of a new order in the world," Konoye said, adding that establishment of a single national political party in Japan was urgently necessary because the existing political parties, based on liberalism, democracy and socialism were not fit for the nation.

Prince Konoye declined to comment on relations with the United States, Russia, Germany and Italy or on Japan's aims in the South Seas until he had discussed all the problems thoroughly with the cabinet and the army and navy.

Schizo Kobayashi, commerce department minister, said collaboration with Germany and Italy was necessary for the development of East Asian resources, with the understanding that "everything pertaining to East Asia is at Japan's discretion."

Pioneer Grove To Be Planted

Native Sons, Daughters
Preparing For 3-Day
Admission Day Fete

El Dorado county will be represented on September 8 at the California State Fair grounds in Sacramento when the combined parents of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West will plant a grove of 58 trees to honor the memory of California pioneers.

The site of the grove where the trees will be planted is located in front of the new Future Farmer Buildings at the state exposition grounds and will be dedicated as "Pioneer Memorial Grove." An appropriate program for the tree planting ceremony is being arranged in Sacramento by Mrs. Genevieve Didion of the Native Daughters and Judge Percy G. West of the Native Sons.

Each one of the 58 trees to be planted will represent a California county, and each tree will be designated by a marker bearing the name of the county for which it will be dedicated. In the center of the 58 individual county markers, a large master marker will be placed, upon which a lasting tribute to the pioneers of the State of California will be engraved.

Officers of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West parlor in the county have been notified of the tree planting ceremonies and they are making arrangements to have a large delegation of El Dorado county residents attend the dedication program on September 8.

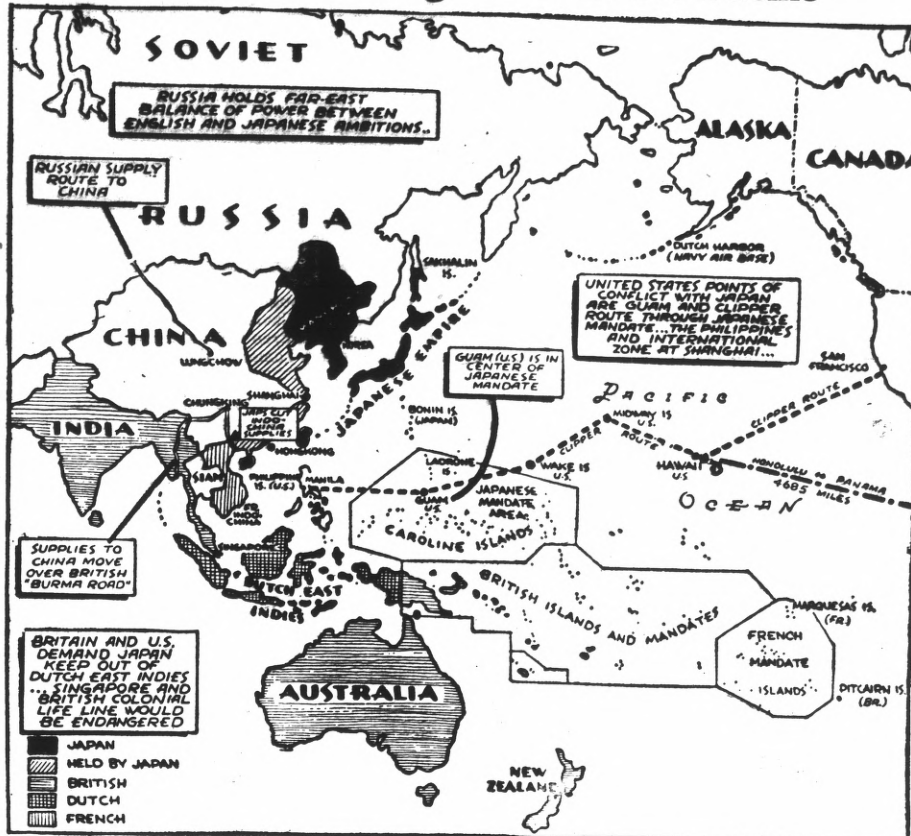

The tree planting program will be one of the many features of the three day state convention of the two organizations, which begins in Sacramento on September 7 and will conclude with a three-hour Admission Day Parade in the downtown section of the capital city on September 9.

Hooked Rug Is Sold For Home In Indo-China

Mrs. James Stewart, of Placerville, who makes hooked rugs, reports that she recently sold one to a couple of tourists whose home is in Indo-China.

The rug was on display on a rack in the yard in front of Mrs. Stewart's residence and the touring couple saw it, stopped and purchased it for their son's room.

Scene of Growing Crisis in the Pacific

This map shows the sore spots where East meets West. With England and Japan at opposite ends of the see-saw, Russia stands in the middle, apparently ready to jump either way. Shown are the supply lines to China from Russia and India. Japan already has cut the Indo-China route which France had maintained. United States and Britain demand that Japan stay out of the Dutch East Indies, source of vital rubber supplies. Sources of United States-Japanese friction are the Philippines, the International Zone in Shanghai, clipper plane routes through Japanese mandated area and the American island of Guam.

"INDISPENSABLE MAN" NOTED IN WILLKIE PLATFORM TALK

Thousands Of Men Qualified "For Every High Public Office," Declares G. O. P. Nominee, Enroute To Cheyenne, Salt Lake And Ogden

BRIGHTON, Colo., (UP)—Wendell L. Willkie, obviously referring to President Roosevelt's third term candidacy, told a crowd from the platform of his train here today that "there is no such thing in this country as the indispensable man."

There are "many men in the United States who have the qualifications for president," the Republican nominee for President said, adding that there are thousands of men who are qualified "for every high public office."

Willkie paused here en route to Cheyenne, Wyo., where he will attend the annual frontier days rodeo this afternoon, and then will fly to Salt Lake City for a similar celebration tomorrow. He also will visit Ogden, Utah, tomorrow evening.

OGDEN HOOK APPOINTED TO BANKERS' COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE

The work of the committee on agriculture of the California Bankers Association in El Dorado County will be directed by E. Ogden Hook, manager, Bank of America N. T. & S. A., Placerville, according to announcement made today by A. J. Gock, president of the association. This appointment, Gock declared, was made in recognition of Mr. Hook's valuable contributions to the work of the agriculture committee in previous years.

The activities of this committee are designed to stimulate the scientific and profitable development of California agriculture through the close cooperation of bankers and farmers. It devotes much of its time to encouraging programs sponsored by farm youth organizations, particularly the 4-H clubs and the Future Farmers of America. Last year the California Bankers Association presented more than 11,000 achievement pins to boys and girls in 4-H who had successfully completed their projects. It also honored the outstanding future farmer in each farmer high school by awarding him a special certificate of merit.

Close cooperation with agricultural teachers and representatives of the extension department of the university of California, practical instruction in farm finance, support of experimental projects, and encouragement of agricultural research work are included in the program of the agriculture committee.

James Kelly, mayor of Stirlington, was doing business in the county seat Tuesday morning.

MISS NORMA JANE ELLIOTT WED JUNE 12TH AT CARSON CITY

Mrs. Mary Jane Elliott, of Placerville, on Tuesday announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Norma Jane, and Marius Albertsen, of San Francisco.

The marriage service took place at Carson City, Nevada, on June 12th, when the young couple made an airplane trip from San Francisco to the Nevada capital.

Mrs. Albertsen has visited her mother frequently in Placerville and has many friends here who will unite in extending their best wishes to the couple.

The bride attended the College of Notre Dame, at Belmont, and completed her education at Puna Hau Academy, Honolulu, and at San Jose State Teachers' College.

Her husband, a native of Marsdal, Denmark, is second officer on the United Fruit Company's boat, Polite, plying between Central American ports and San Francisco, where the couple will make their home.

Their romance dated from a vacation trip which Mrs. Elliott and her daughter took two years ago to Central America.

Rube Nelson was unhurt Sunday in a collision between his bicycle and a car driven by William Volles, of Camino and Oakland. The crash took place on Main Street opposite the Pino Vista Dairy and Mr. Volles jumped from his car to learn whether Rube or his wheel were any worse for the collision, but Rube was up and away before inquiry could be made, leaving Mr. Volles standing there scratching his head.

Red Cross Benefit Party On Thursday

Bridge And Whist Plans Provide For Use Of H. S. In Event Of Bad Weather

The public whist and bridge party, being planned for Thursday evening at Marcus P. Bennett, Jr., Memorial Park, will be held in the high school in the event of unfavorable weather.

Mrs. Edith Ranta, chairman of the production department of the county Red Cross chapter and head of arrangements for the party—which is a benefit for the Red Cross production department—reports that arrangements were completed over the weekend for the use of the high school as an alternative.

High school officials explained that there may be some slight inconvenience since they are taking advantage of the school vacation to make repairs to the building, but the building may be used.

Purpose of the party is to raise a fund which will be used locally by the production department in acquiring supplies and for other purposes.

A committee of women of the entire county has been named to have charge of presenting the party and reports state that a large and attractive list of premiums has been obtained to be awarded to the most successful players, both at bridge and at whist.

Unless there is a rain, then, or a breeze too sharp to permit of an out-of-door event, the party will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night, under the lights at Marcus P. Bennett, Jr., Memorial Park.

If the weather man is "out of sympathy" with the plans, the party will be held in the high school.

Rev. A. A. Kyburz Will Preach On Sunday

Rev. A. A. Kyburz will occupy the pulpit of the El Dorado County Federated Church, Sunday, July 28, in the absence of the pastor who is attending the meeting of Synod of California, at Occidental College, Los Angeles. Beside the pastor, Mrs. J. Walker, the only elder who could attend, is the elder representing the church at Synod, and Mrs. Martin Luther is representing the church at the Women's Synodical, which is convening at the same time and place.

Courthouse Flag Pole Is Being Replaced

The flag pole in the yard at the courthouse was found to have corroded near the base to such an extent that there was danger of its falling, and so was removed Tuesday morning, to be replaced by a new pole to be made by Lewis & Lewis.

Pacific Gas & Electric Company crews assisted in dismantling the old pole since it constituted a hazard to the company's lines, as well as to passing traffic.

157 Dead Reported In U. S. Heat Wave

By UNITED PRESS

The nation sweltered for a third consecutive day under a heat wave that had caused at least 157 known deaths.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Chicago forecast continued hot weather for most of the nation today and tomorrow with only local thunderstorms breaking relief. Most intense heat was reported from the plains states region to the Atlantic coast, many cities recording temperatures of more than 100 degrees.

Highest temperatures were reported in New Mexico, the Dakotas and Montana and Nebraska. Phoenix, Ariz., recorded a maximum of 109 Monday and a minimum of 81. Las Vegas, N. M., reported 106 and temperatures all through the wheat country were at least 100 degrees. The west coast and New England escaped the extreme heat, but even in those regions the mercury rose to over 80.

Even the midnight hours, normally the coolest of the day, failed to bring relief to sweltering city dwellers.

BOMBING RAIDS OPEN "BATTLE"

England, Germany Exchange Assaults By Air; Official Reports Conceal Damages

By UNITED PRESS

Great Britain and Germany—each determined on victory or destruction—exchanged powerful aerial body blows today in a vital preliminary phase of the "battle of Britain."

"There is nothing more to discuss; the die is cast," it was stated at Berlin as German airplanes again roared over the British Isles, smashing with high explosives at important ports, naval bases and the great naval center of Chatham only a few miles from the London Area; Edinburgh and Aberdeen and Portsmouth were among the objectives of the German planes during the night time raids. British airplanes replied with bombing raids—in which French pilots in England participated—against Nazi bases and supply depots from Norway to the French coast.

"We shall not stop fighting until freedom for ourselves and others is secure," British foreign secretary, Viscount Halifax said in reply to Adolf Hitler's submit-or-be-dead challenge. Both British and German aerial bombing forces were striking with steadily increasing power.

Except for the names—Chatham and Portsmouth and Edinburgh or Wilhelmshaven, Hamburg and Cologne—the censorship in both Britain and Germany prevented reporters from giving more than a vague idea of the result of the air raids.

Damage Claimed
NEW YORK, (UP)—Columbia Broadcasting System today intercepted a British Broadcasting Corporation report which quoted a Turkish traveler, returning to Istanbul from a trip through Germany, as saying that British bombs have laid the port of Hamburg "in ruins."

"In his visits to Hamburg, Emden, Bremen, Dusseldorf, Cologne, and Essen he saw hardly a single factory intact," the BBC was reported as saying.

TAHOE CRASH DEATH TO BE INQUEST SUBJECT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Coroner A. J. Orelli announced Tuesday that an inquest to establish the cause of the death of Frederick Francis Tobin, killed early Monday in a Tahoe Valley auto smash, will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the courthouse.

The coroner reported that Elmer Meek, who was riding with Tobin when the latter was killed, was not badly hurt in the crash and will be present at the inquest as will a man identified as "Mr. Hammond," who is said to have gotten out of the Tobin car "five minutes before the crash."

Tobin's body was removed Monday afternoon to Oakland for funeral services and interment.

The Otto Boyds were pleasantly surprised by a short visit from Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Esbeck, of Los Angeles.

Howard Lewis Reveals Ski Club Campaign To Raise $3,000 Purse

Placerville Lions approved a proposal that the club contribute $50 to the Placerville Ski Club's Lover's Leap Ski Shelter fund as a highlight of civic activity at the Lions' regular luncheon Tuesday at Hotel Raffles.

The matter was brought to the club's attention by Lion Howard Lewis, a member of the ski club's shelter committee, who revealed the club hopes to raise $3,000 to insure the completion of its ski shelter in the Lover's Leap Ski area.

The vote to appropriate the money will, in effect, constitute a recommendation to the board of directors that the appropriation be made, since the club has no power to authorize expenditures in excess of $10 without the approval of the directors. However, it was noted by Lion Vice-President Woodward Fox, who presided, that the subject had been discussed by the directorate and that the club's action would probably guide the directors in determining the amount of the club's contribution to the undertaking.

Lion Harold Morehouse welcomed Councilman Joseph Beach into Lion membership again and Lion Vice-President Fox announced the entertainment committee for August will have Lion C. E. Barker as (Continued on Page Three)

Britain Weighs Record Budget

House Of Commons Told War's Cost Mounts To 228,000,000 Weekly

LONDON, (UP)—Great Britain today boosted the income tax rate to 42½ per cent as Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer, presented to the House of Commons supplementary estimates in the nation's largest war budget in its current fiscal year of $13,868,000,000.

The government announced an increase of one penny (1 2-3 cents) per pint in the tax on beer and of two shillings (about 40 cents) per pound of tobacco. Empire preference will be maintained on wines and tobacco. The tax on light wine was boosted 60 cents a gallon and on heavy wines 80 cents a gallon.

For the first time in British history, it was announced, the income tax on salaries and wages will be deducted at the source either each week or each month.

Announcing that Britain's weekly war expenditures had grown from 50,000,000 pounds a week to 57,000,000 pounds ($228,000,000), Wood told the house that the nation was called upon to meet an estimated deficit of $8,800,000,000 to push the war against Germany at its present rate of intensity.

Ivan McKinsey, who had been found guilty Monday on charges of disturbing the peace, went to jail Tuesday for twelve and one-half days in lieu of a fine of $25, imposed in city court.

Gust Brown was a caller from Camino Tuesday morning.

CUTS INFANT TOLL
MADISON, Wis., (UP)—Only one out of every 14 deaths in Wisconsin during the last year was that of a child less than one year of age, compared to one out of every five deaths in the state 30 years ago. Part of this difference is credited to a trailer schoolhouse which visits rural communities to teach child and maternal health.

CHAPTER XXXIII
MANSION OF FEAR
by Mildred Snow Gleason
© 1935 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

WHEN Marcia came to, she found herself lying on the floor. Her mouth felt hot and dry and her head ached agonizingly. Sitting up weakly, she saw Larry and Macbride sprawled by the door. Holding on to the leg of the table, Marcia struggled to her feet, and started toward Larry. She breathed deeply with relief as she saw him begin to move.

He looked around with blood-shot eyes, still a little dazed by the gas.

"Thank heaven that you are here," he said simply to Marcia. He got unsteadily to his feet.

"But Gigi—"

Marcia leaned against the table and stared hopelessly at the room.

"Gigi is gone," she whispered. Larry stood quite still for a moment, his face drawn and strained. The metal blind had been raised from the window and the air in the room was fresh. Larry glanced at his watch.

"We've been unconscious about half an hour," he muttered.

He looked at Macbride, who still lay motionless.

"Why does he take so long coming out of it?" Marcia asked nervously.

"Don't forget the physical strain he went through before this started," Larry answered quietly. "His strength is about gone. Do you think you can take him under the arm and help me get him to a window?"

Marcia nodded and with some difficulty they succeeded in raising the man from the floor and carrying him to the window. It was some minutes, however, before he opened his eyes, and even then he was too weak to do more than sink into a chair apathetically.

LARRY lighted a cigarette.

"It looks as though we were beaten," he muttered.

He began to pace the floor. Once he stood for several minutes with his ear to the door. He tried to open it, but it had been locked again.

"Silent as a tomb," he murmured. "I wonder if Allstone is busy elsewhere?"

"With—with Father and Gigi," Marcia faltered. "Do you suppose—"

"Stop it!" Larry spoke imperatively. "It won't do any good to think of that. We've got to think of ourselves now. And—" he sighed, "we haven't even got a revolver."

He walked over to the door again and stood staring at it. It was an ordinary one, and Larry turned to Marcia quickly.

"As for getting us out through the door," he grunted "we can do that by unscrewing the hinges. Give me the knife, Marcia."

He worked rapidly, and as he worked, Macbride seemed to recover.

STEWART SAYS:

on Capitol Hill began to favor a policy of Japanese "appeasement." They thought it would be a good idea for us to conclude a nice, friendly treaty with Tokyo, enabling us to transfer our war fleet from the Pacific, through the Panama canal, to the Atlantic, to guard our Pan-American east coast against the possibility of attempted Nazi-Fascist dirty work from Europe.

This, of course, was based on the naive supposition that the mikado wasn't really bent upon the Japanization of the entire eastern hemisphere at the expense of ourselves, the British, the French, probably the Germans and Russians also, and, indeed, all the rest of the Occident.

But before we got around to any appeasement the Nazis and the Fascists had France on the run.

Allies Too Busy
It had looked all along as if, with Herr Hitler on their hands, the British and French couldn't do much toward defending their holdings in Asia. France's collapse evidently didn't leave the Japanese in any further doubt about it. Inside a few hours they were landing big Jap forces on the Asiatic mainland all around British Hongkong and French Indo-China.

The impression is that they'll take Hongkong and French Indo-China while they're about it and while the British are too busy in Europe to protect Hongkong—and the French won't signify, being already licked by the Germans.

Then, presumably, the mikado will consider himself fixed to tackle Russia.

Someone notes that in our recent mention of fruit packing and shipping concerns in the community, we left room for people to receive the impression that the marketing firm of Simon & French is entering the packing end of the fruit business.

Most of those who are familiar with the fruit industry know that Simon & French have been in the marketing end of the business for many, many years and the firm does not own nor operate any fruit packing houses.

The connection of the firm name with the local packing shed, while appropriate to an extent, is not exactly warranted by the facts; for the shed in question is operated by the Gold Ridge Fruit Growers' Association under the management of Jack Rhodes.

The G. R. F. G. Association is an independently organized group of ranchers who have selected Simon & French as their marketing agents. The association is free and independent and their only connection with Simon & French is in the marketing end.

Membership in the group, which is not large, includes growers at GOLD Hill and Fruit RIDGE and that's where the name, Gold Ridge, comes from.

TUNA PLAYS A NEW ROLE

Double-Decker Tuna-Pineapple Loaf
garnished with radish roses, lettuce hearts, ripe olives and watercress

Little Hot Rolls
Lady Baltimore Cake
Iced Tea
Salted Nuts
Coffee

Here's a refreshing, colorful and thoroughly delightful menu for a hot weather luncheon or buffet supper. Don't you think that just the mere name "double-decker tuna-pineapple loaf" sounds cool and inviting? And it tastes as good as it sounds. One "deck"—the top—holds crushed pineapple and grated carrots. It's refreshing and orange colored. The "lower deck" holds the flaked tuna mixed with bits of crisp celery and splashes of red pimiento. In the center of a long platter this gelatin loaf is simply stunning to behold—all orange and white and red—with a crisp green and black garland of lettuce hearts, watercress and shiny ripe olives! And it's really easy to make!

DOUBLE-DECKER TUNA-PINEAPPLE LOAF

Pineapple Layer
1 tablespoon gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 cup pineapple juice (drained from a No. 2 can crushed pineapple)
1/2 cup lemon juice (from 1 large lemon)
Soak the gelatin in cold water about 5 minutes. Blend soaked gelatin to the boiling point, remove from heat, and blend in the soaked gelatin, stirring until thoroughly dissolved. Then blend in lemon juice, salt and sugar, and set aside to chill. When partially set, fold in the well drained crushed pineapple and grated carrots. Pour into a bread loaf pan (8x4x4 inches across the bottom and 2 1/2 inches deep) which has been brushed with oil, filling the pan half full. Chill until partially set. Then place the tuna fish layer on top.

Tuna Fish Layer
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup flaked tuna fish (1 7-oz. can)
1 1/2 cups finely diced celery
1/4 cup chopped pimiento
Soak the gelatin in cold water about 5 minutes. Blend soaked gelatin in lemon juice and salt, and set aside to chill. When partially set, fold in the tuna fish, celery and pimiento. Now place this mixture on top of the partially set Pineapple Layer. Chill until firm.

WHEN READY TO SERVE

When you are ready to serve this loaf, unmold onto a cold platter and garnish with watercress (or lettuce or parsley), olives and radish roses.

Serve with mayonnaise (mixed with whipped cream, if desired). This recipe will yield 8 servings. If you wish to make only 4 to 6 servings, make half the recipe and mold it in individual custard cups.

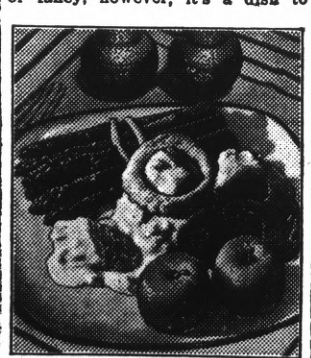

If you have any specific cooking problems, send a letter requesting information to Betty Crocker in care of this newspaper. You will receive a prompt, personal reply. Please enclose 3 cent stamp to cover postage.

Inviting Dish for a Warm Day

Dorothy Greig

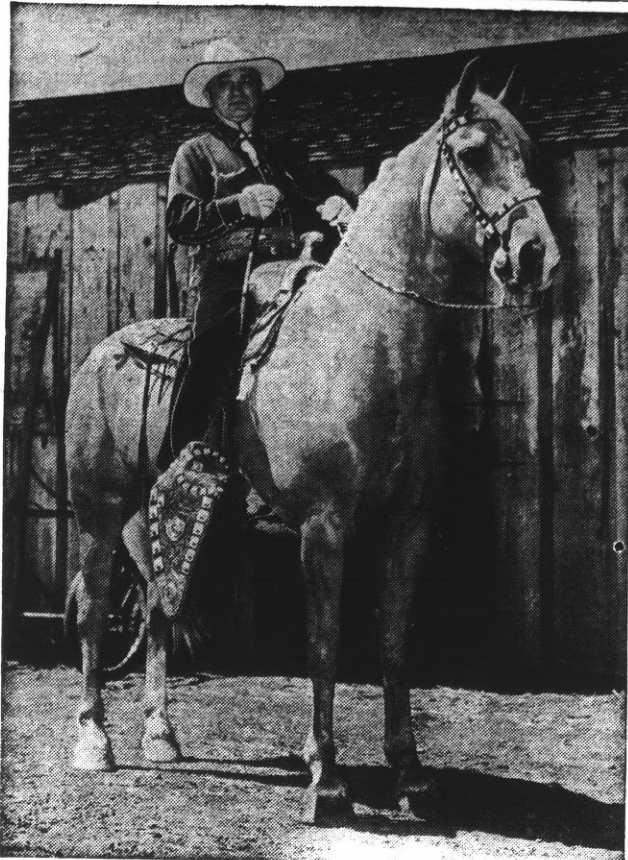

THIS tuna fish dish can be either a plain-Jane or fussy-Fanny, all depending upon how you dress it up.

On toast, it's a simple every day family dish. But molded in a flaky patty shell, flanked by plump asparagus and glazed cinnamon apples, it can take a prideful place on a bridge luncheon table. Plain or fancy, however, it's a dish to tempt warm weather appetites because though nourishing and creamy rich, it is light.

Tuna fish la king is served in patty shells, with fresh asparagus and glazed cinnamon apples

Tuna Fish la King
1 can Tuna Fish (7 ozs.)
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup top milk
1/4 cup pimiento, cut in strips
Place soup in double boiler and stir well. Add milk gradually. Put the tuna fish into a strainer and pour a cup of hot water over it. Add tuna fish and pimiento to hot sauce. Heat well and serve in patty shells.

TOP HONORS for the organization winning the most prizes during the Reno rodeo went to San Francisco Sheriff's Posse, with Wm. A. "Dutch" Baker's horse, Regal, taking the golden-horse trophy for being a leading entrant. Regal was decked out in one of the finest western outfits in the country. This included silver saddle, stirrups and braces owned by Mr. Baker, president of the Regal Amber Brewing Company.

By Henry McLemore
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, (UP)—Alex J. Morrison, the golf teacher, has just published his second volume on the game.

It is titled "Better Golf Without Practice," and when you recall that Morrison's first book was "A New Way to Better Golf" is becomes obvious what the third volume of the trilogy will deal with when written.

It is almost certain to be "Better Golf Without Playing it at all." And I unhesitatingly predict that it not only will have a tremendous sale, but that it will go a long way toward eradicating much misery and suffering, and earn for the author a place in posterity as a great humanitarian.

In his current book Professor Morrison advocates relaxing in a chair and practicing your golf game mentally instead of physically. Unfortunately, he doesn't allow the student to stay there through the entire book. After four restful chapters he suggests that you get out on the golf course and try out a few of the things you have been contemplating in the ease of your Morris chair—your Alex J. Morrison chair, so to speak.

Now the present book is a great step forward, and should enjoy much success, but volume No. 3 the little gem we can hardly wait for Alex to write.

Golf without playing golf! What a boon to mankind!

No more aching feet, no more blisters or sunburn. No more descents into treacherous traps. No more caddies who smirk and laugh. No more 18 holes to struggle through—just the cool comfort of the 19th hole, where the game will be played from beginning to end, and where every man will be a national champion.

Think of what a delightful affair the club championship would be under the golf-without-actually-any playing golf conditions.

All the contestants would gather in the 19th hole, slip into something cool and slip something cool into themselves, and then mentally play the 18 holes.

Those who couldn't come to the club could call in their scores, and it is not at all inconceivable that a gentleman laid up at home with the gout could win the championship. It is obvious that if this new system of golf is adopted scores are going to get a great deal better. The 64s and 65s of the Thomsons, Littles, Sneads and Nelsons of today won't stand up against your mental golf scores of tomorrow. It is entirely likely that scores of 18 for 18 holes will become common, and that a hole-in-one, even on par five holes, will be good only for a half.

That mental golf is not entirely impossible, but rather is a delightful game, has been proved by none other than Fielding H. Yost, Michigan's grand old man of sport.

He has been playing it for years. He goes around the course with no clubs, no ball, no caddy and, decades where his perfect shot should have landed. Mr. Yost has never been over par, never in a trap, never had to hack his way out of the rough, and never missed a short putt and is several million dollars ahead in mental bets. Mr. Yost says his is the perfect way to play. He gets all the exercise he wants, and never haunted by an inability to attain perfection.

You'll have to excuse me now. I have just thought myself a sensational 22 and I'm in a hurry to post it. It might be good enough to win the fourth flight.

CAMPERS ARE WARNED NOT TO TAKE OR TOUCH FAWNS

The State game patrol has issued a plea to campers and others for strict observance of the laws prohibiting the taking or handling of fawns.

Patrol officials warned against even the touching of young animals, asserting such practice is as illegal as shooting deer out of season. After a human hand has touched a fawn, they declared, the mother doe will not care for it.

Persons who find fawns under circumstances which indicate that the mothers have abandoned or lost them, the patrol said, should report their discoveries to the nearest game warden. The fawn, however, should not be moved.

The patrol estimated 300 animals are lost through this illegal practice every year.

TRIO JAILED FOR THEFT OF POWDER FROM ROAD CONTRACT CAMP

SACRAMENTO—Two men and a woman were jailed on charges of burglary after they attempted to sell five cases of dynamite and 100 electrical caps reported stolen from a road construction camp.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Ogle said Frank Hudson, 27, his wife, Dorothy, 23, and Harold Emily, 29, attempted to sell the explosives to T. E. Laurence of Fair Oaks, agent for a blasting powder firm.

Ogle reported the dynamite was taken from the magazine of the Hemstreet & Bell Construction Co., which is building a road between Folsom, Sacramento county, and Clarksville, El Dorado county.

62 Enrolled, 57 In Average Attendance At Bible School

The Daily Vacation Bible School, conducted by the Federated Church has proved to be a real success the church reports. In this school much was accomplished in the way of Christian Education, during the brief period in which it was held. The total enrollment of the school was 62, the average attendance 57. The program of the school consisted largely of: an opening service in the life of Jesus; a SERMON given to the American and Christian flags and the Bible, under the direction of Maxine Miller, Norma Kelly, and Margaret Morehouse. Then the school was divided into classes.

Miss Eldora Jensen had charge of the Beginner and Primary classes and was assisted by Miss Penelope Rissler, Pearl Ringenberg, and Norma Kelly. Maxine Miller and Mrs. Eleanor Aronovitch taught a class of Juniors. Bible Stories and Scripture verses. Miss Barbara Candee also taught a class of Juniors in which the Fillograph was used depicting Biblical incidents in the life of Jesus, and Scripture verses learned.

Mrs. R. L. Stewart taught a class on Intermediates a survey course on the gospel of Matthew. One of the features of this class was the making of a frieze in which were pictures representing the high lights in the life and ministry of Jesus. Mr. Morehouse also taught a class of Intermediates a brief course in Church History.
